

Delegation Name: The Delegation of Kuwait

Ambassador Name: Celil Ege Pinar

Ensuring international peace and ensuring its continuity is Kuwait's basic principle in foreign policy.

As a country that has adopted a commitment to international equality, we believe that relations between states will be strengthened through mutual dialogue, transparency and confidence-building measures. With this method, we believe that the previously signed agreements and agreements to ensure peace and reconciliation will be implemented more effectively.

We are open to all kinds of cooperation and solidarity in order to ensure regional and global peace, public order, security and stability.

In case of disagreement between states, we are ready to assume the role of mediator with a realistic, objective point of view and a moderate attitude.

In the Middle East and North Africa there are numerous challenges;

- a- Ethnic and sectarian differences,
- b- The region is very rich in terms of oil and underground resources,
- c- Depending on the rapid development of the defense industry, MENA states may accelerate the armament process,
- d- Increase in arms smuggling through illegal means,
- e- Presence of authoritarian and oppressive governments,

f- Peoples' Democratic and Freedom Desire, g- The peoples' requests for the full implementation of the "Universal Declaration of Human Rights",

These conditions have led to MENA unfortunately suffering from instability in recent years.

The weapons used in these wars have caused the death of millions of people and the proliferation of weapons of mass destruction has the potential to kill millions more. The wars have led to the separation of military expenditures of a large part of the budgets of the states. The increase in military expenditures has caused the welfare level of the people to decrease in many countries and prevented the states from growing and becoming stronger economically.

When international organizations impose an embargo on a state for political, economic and military reasons most of the people are adversely affected by this situation. Many people are so poor that they cannot even meet their basic needs. Medication shortages, lack of water and epidemic diseases have also increased infant and child deaths.

In addition, civil wars have also caused the refugee problem. Refugees face many problems such as language, education, accommodation, nutrition and health in the country they took refuge. In addition, many countries in the world have experienced integration problems while hosting refugees.

In the light of all these developments, we believe that the international arms race should be abandoned and the arms exports and imports should be limited by implementing quotas, illegal arms smuggling should be prevented by increasing national and international control, and war criminals should be punished within the framework of international criminal law. In line with this understanding, our basic principles are "PEACE, SECURITY and TRANQUILITY".

As the Kuwait Delegation, we believe that "PEACE, SECURITY and TRANQUILITY" will be the greatest and most precious legacy we will leave to future generations.
