

Delegation Name: Russian Federation

Ambassador Name: Yunus Emre Özsoy

Dear delegates, President of the General Assembly, Secretary General, Student Officers, admin staff, advisors, and guests; welcome to this year's TIMUN. It may be asked why we started our speech by saluting the delegates first as it goes against the general hierarchy. There is a straightforward answer to that question and that is democracy. Delegates of every Member State in each committee are the ones who are actually capable of making a change. That is why we trust the nations of the world to make the right decisions they might not have been making for a long period of time. As every nation of the United Nations does, we know the world has been going through times of uncertainty and conflict. This year, here at this conference, we seek to solve all the major problems our globe suffered in the last decade or more. We would like to remind all Member States once again that this is the time to make the right decisions as our time elapses rapidly.

This year's theme being "Securing Post-conflict Peace" does not surprise us even a bit as the utilitarian organization NATO has been driving our world into conflict. We would like all of the house to know that we are here as the great Russian Federation with every facility we have to support those under oppression due to the global conflicts caused by the western world. Hopefully, we will bring such conflicts to a resolution and ensure world peace after.

Although we are glad to see this year's agenda items being mostly feasible in their possible solutions, we do see some loopholes. Do the Member States really believe that extremist western and capitalist countries will comply with resolutions in issues such as "Tackling the global increase in military expenditure” in GA1? Of course, all Members are free to have their own opinions on the question but the factual answer is unfortunately “no”. This is exactly why nations should work in collaboration, as we will, to prevent those nations who seek monopoly in decisions that require global input and democracy.

Have no doubt in us, the great nation of Russia, to bring world conflicts that concern all of us to an end. We fill ourselves with pride to know that our country has been the protector of the world in securing peace by eliminating those who pose a threat to it and we surely will continue to be that protector. Be sure, we want nothing but a world of prosperity which can only be achieved under world peace. May God and our great leader Vladimir Putin help us in attaining the peace we deserve as the UN. As Russia; we never disappointed, we never will.
