

Delegation Name: The Hellenic Republic of Greece

Ambassador Name: Günseli Aydın

Honorable chair and fellow delegates, we are Greek Delegates. We're ready to accurately convey the Greek government's views on post-conflict peace. Our delegation is thrilled to attend.

Civil wars encourage populations to seek firearms, leading to illegal arms trafficking throughout MENA. These trades usually occur between borders, thus; we must tighten relations between border countries, to better manage border control. The Hellenic Republic of Greece opposes the use of WMD and believes a meeting should be held to establish a WMD-free zone in the Middle East. It is vital to tackle the increase in military spending. The Hellenic Republic of Greece's military spending surged by 152.4% from 2020 to 2021; numerous MENA countries had a similar spike. The UN must penalize and supervise military spending to reduce global spending.

We aim to solve MENA's economic and labor concerns. The stated difficulties can be solved by the ILO, the IMF, etc. All these scenarios hinge on an ungoverned and mistrusted structure that impacts MENA economies, politics, and education. The UN should implement deeper structural reforms in MENA states immediately.

The Hellenic Republic has suffered from great economic catastrophes in the past few years. The Hellenic Republic can help MENA governments learn how to manage debts and develop a sustainable economy with the UN's help.

Inadequate economic segmentation policies and civil wars affect international trade and food security. We must create a UN body to ensure economic diversity, especially for LEDCs.

Our goal is to limit the number of innocent individuals affected by present legislation, such as imposing sanctions, restoring order in Gaza, and preventing excessive physical abuse during interrogations.

In order to improve education in low-income countries, it is necessary, first, to regulate economic growth to prevent poverty, second, to regulate the distribution of income to further accelerate the elimination of poverty within society, and finally, to create a mutual interaction between growth and inequality.

Our target is to find permanent solutions to problems that are affecting future generations as well as the current populace, such as the lack of women's rights and law enforcement abuse, mainly in MENA countries.

We are conscious of today's and future's environmental issues. Uncontrolled population growth is an exacerbation of climate change, which results in affecting human lives including water scarcity, land degradation, excessive agriculture, and an increase in infectious diseases. In order to obtain an environmentally friendly atmosphere, long-term solutions are a necessity.

LEDCs should implement severe and profound reforms to secure post-conflict peace. Long-term improvements in politics, the economy, etc. can be predicted with these reforms. When governments don't implement bad policies, post-conflict peace is conceivable. The UN should analyze and reform international legislation to prevent individuals from suffering from regulations and their implementation. We need a predictable and transparent one that is put in place. We need collective commitment to make these things happen.
