

Delegation Name: United Arab Emirates

Ambassador Name: Zehra Desen Çelik

Honorable Executive-Board Members, Most-Esteemed Chairs, Fellow Delegates, and Dear Guests,

As the delegation of the United Arab Emirates, we would like to declare that it is our utmost honor to take part in the 29th annual session of the Turkish International Model United Nations (TIMUN). The world requires greater international cooperation in the post-pandemic era which brings attention to “Securing Post-Conflict Peace”, the theme of this year’s TIMUN.

The current economic status of the United Arab Emirates demonstrates that it will be experiencing about five percent growth in 2022 which is one of the fastest in the Middle East and North Africa (MENA) region. The economy will again have a trade surplus and per capita income will be likely higher compared to the pre-pandemic era. The primary industry which shapes economic growth is the petroleum and petrochemicals industry.

Naturally, the UAE is a country that promotes peace and stands strictly against conflicts. In this sense, we are following an approach based on items such as the sovereignty of states, the non-tolerance of violent acts, and supporting diplomatic solutions to prevent instabilities.

Regarding the attempts of the United Arab Emirates to secure peace after conflicts, the reduction of cases of vector-borne diseases can be presented as an example. Since 2007, no malaria case has been spotted within the UAE borders. In this respect, our country is well appreciated by global healthcare institutions due to its role in fighting against vector-borne diseases not only locally but also globally through the utilization of a proactive approach. Therefore, the use of new technologies and improved information sharing establish tranquility regarding the resolution of vector-borne diseases caused by climate change.

As another example, the United Arab Emirates has broken the relationship between the poverty cycle and education only a few years after its independence through measures taken by the Abu Dhabi Fund for Development (ADFD). Indeed, the UAE has invested heavily all around the world to promote greater opportunities and personal development. In developing countries where poverty is widespread, education is key to lifting future generations out of economic stagnation into progress and productivity. Hence, many established programs aim to act upon this idea. To portray, the program Dubai Cares targets 8 million children from 31 different countries in order to provide them with quality education and destroy the poverty cycle. Therefore, such collaboration and cooperations are essential when it comes to reaching a consensus regarding the maintenance of worldwide peace.

All in all, as the United Arab Emirates, we will be dedicating our efforts to solving the issues that depend on post-conflict peace as observed in our current policies. Thus, the analysis of the theme “Securing Post-Conflict Peace” will aid to overcome the obstacles that have been persistently affecting many member states in adverse ways throughout the course of a long history.

We hope that everyone will enjoy the conference and will be contributing in all manners to the well-being of the world countries in the foreseeable future.
