

Delegation Name: Azerbaijan

Ambassador Name: Ela Çitipitioğlu

Honorable chairs, fellow delegates and distinguished guests,

As the delegation of Azerbaijan, we are immensely honored to be apart of the renowned annual TIMUN conference . We are truly pleased to be discussing this years topic “Securing Post-Conflict Peace” in the light of our past conflicts. We hope this conference will allow advancement in peace and security for all countries.

As a country who has experienced conflicts firsthand we would like to remind that citizens are the most affected by wars. The first clause of the three main subjects in our law which are to be protected by the security services at all and any times is human beings, their freedom and liberties. That is why we place great value resolving these issues. Around the globe over the years we have seen many conflicts, some still going on the prime example right now being the Ukraine-Russia conflict, lead to the most vulnerable populations in remote locations face tremendous negative impacts resulting into: migration, hunger, loss of basic healthcare, economic instability, violence and more. Addressing these issues and finding sustainable solutions will take us forward allowing world security and peace.

Our country has had many reconciliation efforts after the war in the Nagorno-Karabakh conflict zone in order to prevent further unnecessary loss of human lives and damages. In the context of the UN, with CERF (Central Emergency Response Fund) we have reached and aided the civilian population of the Nagorno-Karabakh.

We would like underline that due to its geographic location, which borders five countries, our nation is vulnerable to international terrorism, illegal immigration, human and drug trafficking, and the spread of illicit weapons. To combat these issues, we have our own intelligence and counterintelligence organizations to evaluate and identify the daily illegal activity as to assure the defense of the state border. To further improve interception of future collisions and prevention of illegal activities within our borders, an anticipated $3.1 billion will be spent on enhancing our defense capabilities and national security.

As geopolitical tensions rise and insecurities are ever spreading in our world we believe we must keep pace to keep peace. Since the inception of Azerbaijan we recognize the importance of keeping international peace and hope to achieve the stable goal of taking adequate response measures concerning the challenges of modern times in this conference.

Thank you
